WHAT IS A HACKATHON?

A hackathon is a coding marathon—a real-time programming fair where students develop an idea and bring it to life through code. In the past, students have created games, websites, apps, robots, Arduino projects, and much more!

WHAT IS QUHACKS?

QuHacks is a Maryland-based organization created by high school students that creates hackathons to provide a friendly environment for technology education. In a day of coding, designing, and learning, QuHacks aims to unlock the creativity inherent to high school students and inspire the next generation of developers. Students not only have the opportunity to create a product in the language or system they are most comfortable with, but also learn new concepts in computer science and network, develop, meet and collaborate with like-minded people.

WHY SPONSOR QUHACKS?

Hackathons are one of the most effective ways for your company to connect with students while promoting your brand. When your company sponsors QuHacks, you will...

- Give students a chance to explore computer science in a supportive, hands-on environment, regardless of their experience levels.
- Get the chance to promote your company to interested students, professionals, and other organizations.
- Encourage students to work together to learn and develop products that will have a lasting impact on the world.
